

Cadaveric Pelvic Anatomy Course for Women's & Men's Health Physiotherapists

Venue: Cambridge University, Anatomy Building, Downing Site

Date: Wednesday, 20th January 2016

Visualise first hand the Pelvic Floor Muscles in situ and in relation to the urinary and reproductive organs in both Male and Female cadaver prosections. Each station will be led by Clinical Anatomy Demonstrators or relevant NHS Clinicians.

Covering:

- Pelvic Floor and its attachments and innervation
- Musculoskeletal anatomy of the pelvis – bony, muscular and ligamentous
- Gynaecological Pathology,
- Female urinary and reproductive system
- Male urinary and reproductive system

Teaching will be supplemented by appropriate imaging and models where appropriate.
Lunch not included, but break time refreshments will be provided.

For further information please contact:

Shelley Dewar @ physioeducation@addenbrookes.nhs.uk or 01223 216773

or Nicola Day @ Nicola.day@addenbrookes.nhs.uk